

Ang Rosin Supporting Statement

Angela has been my line manager for the entirety of my time as eLearning & Accessibility Officer (previously eLearning Admin) at The City of Liverpool College. Though we started working at the College at the same time, Angela would always make time for me to help with any queries I had and guided me on my journey of working in Education, while also learning the ropes of a new role herself.

As this was my first role within the Education sector, I had a lot to learn. She has mentored me from learning the basics of how Moodle works, to confidently completing audits on courses within our Virtual Learning Environment. Angela has also supported and encouraged the expansion of my role to include me taking ownership of digital accessibility from an eLearning perspective at her suggestion, and empowered me to think of my long-term goals and undertake a Master's degree in Inclusive Education. Without Angela's support and guidance, I would not have had the confidence to go ahead with these. In my new role, Angela has now been assured of my abilities within the accessibility area and continues to coach me and provide her expertise when required.
